The judgment in the case of Whiteway and Fold was based on the ground that they authorized the expenditure of large amounts of money for public works, roads, brilges, etc., during the fortnight preceding the election, without having any legal authority to take such a course; that they allocated gundry small sums, ranging from 10 to 540, to private persons to build or repair private roads to fishmic places, gardens, etc., and that such expenditures altogether occasioned the employment of hundreds of men immediately before the election. The judge decided that this constituted bribery and rendered a fair election impossible. The whole expenditure in the district was $42,000.

The case is the most important tried here in many years, and occupied three months in hearing. Chief Justice Carter at first presided, but he fell ill, and Justice Little continued the hearing. The Whitewayles exhausted every device to prevent the trial from coming to an end, hoping by a sort of guerilla warfare to overthrow the Goodridge Government and compel the abandonment of the trials. The Government's triumph is now complete. They have been collecting revenue during the last six weeks without legal authority, owing to the Whitewayltes being in a majority in the Assembly and refusing to pass revenue bills, but the unseating of these three members will give the Government the needful majority to pass measures, and the Legislature will open next week to accomplish the work. The bys-elections will be held in November to fill the oracancies.

Two years ago it appeared as if the Republican party was a party of the past. But since that time, all that the Democrats had done had served only to bring down ruin on their heads, and they were being buried so deeply that it was doubtful whether the resurrection trumpet could arouse them The history of the Democratic party showed its incapacity for administering the government of State and Nation, and its tendency to do the wrong thing at the right time was historic. The speaker thanked the club for its cordial reception.

W. W. Goodrich, a member of the State Committee, said that what was done at the meeting yesterday of the State Committee did not mean the turning down of any one, and what had been done was in the interest of the party. The committee which had been appointed would be a permanent one for the settlement of all differences of opinion in the party. It was a good sign to see so many candidates for office at the hands of the party. The other speakers were Assemblymen Stillman F. Kneeland and James A. Taylor.

WANTS A WIDOW'S SHARE OF MILLIONS. MRS. ARMSTRONG SAYS SHE WAS THE COM-MON-LAW WIFE OF NELSON BEARDS. LEY, OF AUTURN

Auburn, N. Y., July 25 - Ever since the death of Nelson Beardsley in January list, leaving six daughters and $7,00,000, developments have been expected by everybody cognizant of his years of open intimacy with a Mrs. Armstrong. There wa a sensation to-day when it became known that the woman's lawyers had served summons and complaint, claiming that the woman in the case is the lawful widow of the deceased millionaire, and that her latest-born was his legitimate child. The reports of the alleged widow's claim were to the effect that it was a common-law marriage and compact entered into by the couple. The fact that there lived a man who had previously held the position of husband by right of a regular marriage ceremony was regarded by some as a bar to the woman's claim. But others explained that Mr. Armstrong had not lived with his wife for years, and that the statutory time having clapsed whereb and that the statutory time having clapsel whereit the wife had reasonable doubts of his being allow she was free to marry again. At all events, Mr. Beartsley died without publicly acknowledging a marriage—common-law or otherwise—with the woman and without making the slightest mention of her in his will. She immediately donned wriow eeds, and by frequent visits to the grave of the deceased man she attracted much attention. The first move in the case was made to-day, when Coburn & Hunter, as Mrs. Armstrong's attorneys, began proceedings to establish her claim to a dower right of Mr. Beardsley's millions. But this is not all of the "widow's" claims tion has also been commenced against the execution has also been commenced against the executors of the Beardsley estate to recover on two promissory notes aggregating $28.00 and interest from the time they were given. One of the notes, for $10,000, is now in the plaintiff's possession, but the other, so it is alleged, was placed in a private safe in the Cayuga County National Bank vault and is now missing.

Other valuable papers which it is claimed were deposited in the "private safe" of the deceased man, and which are now missing, will be the basis for another suit to be began in a few days. It will be brought by "Laura A. Beardsley, as trustee of Nelson D. Beardsley," the infant child, to recover $76,000. This is the alleged value of securities which the widow asserts had been given to her prior to Mr. Beardsley's death, to be kept in trust for the child.

The delegates were up and around at daybreak, and conferences and caucuses on the United States Senator and State Treasurer nominations were kept up until the last moment. Then the Culiom-Cook County coalition gave it out flatfooted that there would be no nomination for Senator, and that Henry Wulff would win the State Treasurership on the first baldot. The Mason-Tracy element, however, would not concede this claim, but insisted on the contrary that they were stronger than last night. When the

For a white it was one of the most tumultuous and exciting gatherings of the representatives of the party in the history of the State. The proposition to follow the example of the Democratic Convention, and nominate a candidate for United States Senator was the hone of contention. The convention, by an overwhelming majority, refused to nominate a candidate for Senator. Cullom had the votes, as the result proved, but his opponent had a packed floor and the full strength of the gallerles, and on propositions submitted to a viva voce vote, these completely drowned the accredited majority. When it came to a show down in the way of a rollocall, it was specified demonstrated that the ex-Congressman was not in it. The result of the ballot makes Senator Cullom the logical candidate for re-election, should the new Legislasture he Republican on joint ballot.

The vote on the Senatorship stood: Yeas, 1.019, max, 313. That settles Mason forever, shouled a delegate, and again the convention howied.
